Defense Transportation Journal

The voice of Defense Transportation

The Defense Transportation Journal (DTJ) is the official publication of the National Defense Transportation Association and the only trade publication dedicated to topics and trends from the perspective of military and commercial partnership. Readers include professionals from corporate enterprise and all service branches, as well as government decision makers.

The DTJ is also distributed to college and university libraries to supplement course curriculum in order to reach future leaders in transportation, logistics and supply chain management. Additional outreach includes industry associations and organizations.

Content is relevant and current, and reflects viewpoints of various modes and industry sectors. And, the DTJ is the only magazine of its kind to produce a comprehensive directory of corporate members, key federal agencies, and chapter and regional representatives dedicated to transportation, logistics, distribution and travel.

The DTJ is published as a benefit to members, however it is also available by subscription for $35 / year. Cost includes postage and handling within the continental US.
