

Lieutenant General Kenneth R. Wykle US Army (Retired)

The Association for Global Logistics & Transportation

General Wykle earned a Bachelor of Science degree from West Virginia University where he also completed the Reserve Officer Training Course. Upon graduation, he was commissioned a Regular Army Second Lieutenant of Field Artillery. General Wykle subsequently transferred to the Transportation Corps and served in a variety of command and staff positions during his distinguished military career. His last military assignment was as Deputy Commander, U.S. Transportation Command. After retirement in 1995, he joined Science Applications International Corporation as Vice President, Defense Transportation. In 1997, he returned to public service as the Federal Highway Administrator, U.S. Department of Transportation. In 2001, he returned to private industry as the Senior Vice President, Public Sector, Savi Technology, Inc. He assumed his current position as President, NDTA The Association for Global Logistics & Transportation in October 2002. General Wykle's military education includes the US Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas and the US Army War College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. He also holds a Master of Arts degree from Ball State University, and has completed the Harvard University National/International Security Management Program.